

NEWS RELEASE
August 28, 2013

Find Your Artist: A Talk with Tim Pompey

The Santa Maria Library invites the public to a free talk with author and journalist Tim Pompey. He will be speaking in Shepard Hall in the Santa Maria Library from 6:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 26th, 2013.

As a musician, composer, and writer of several books of poetry and fiction, Tim will speak about the search and work it takes to give yourself permission to be an artist and create your own art, to live as an artist in a society that more often than not relegates the practice of art primarily to privileged intellectuals. Art is a journey that takes some courage and discovery. Find your passion. Find your art. Find your artist.

A book signing of Mr. Pompey's new novel Nightfly will follow the program.

Questions may be directed to Colin Delaney, Reference Department, 925-0951 ext. 331.

Department:	Library Reference
Contact Person:	Colin Delaney, Library Technical Assistant
Telephone Number:	(805) 925-0951 ext. 331
E-mail Address:	cdelaney@cityofsantamaria.org